

Note from after level completion: *The text notes here were the original plan, and some things were cut. There was originally to be a greater narrative focus on Lord Gideon being terrible and everyone wanting to rob him, but this was changed to focus on the eldritch god aspect of the story, as I found the idea of clashing the architecture of an ancient temple and Victorian vacation home interesting.

Player goes to rob a rich vacation home during the offseason on the island of Perditas. Home should be populated by servants but a band of pirates has taken control of the estate and are in the process of taking it over while the player arrives.

- Indigenous legend on Perditas tells of a great hero who stole the eye of the sea god long ago. In the hands of his descendants, the sea god was without power and the people were safe.
- Lord Gideon, having pilfered the island years ago, build his house upon the temple of the sea god, which holds it's eye
- Sloane's crew were formerly a part of the navy but entered a storm and encountered the sea god, which commanded them to retrieve its eye.

Objectives:

- Steal the eye of the sea god
- Restore the Lighthouse
- Find the navigation globe

Characters

- Pirate Captain Sloane
  - Captain of the Dread Baron
- Pirate First Mate Flanagan
- Lord Gideon
  - Owner of the house
  - Not on the island during mission
- Dolores
  - Kitchen servant
  - In love with Cooper
  - Lives in servant's quarters of Gideon's house
- Cooper
  - Lives in the town
  - In love with Dolores

Conflicts:

- Player vs Pirates (Visible)
- Player vs Home owner (Text)
- Pirates vs Servants (Visible)
- Servants vs Home owner (Text)

Locations:

- House
  - Kitchen
  - Kitchen storage
  - Wine cellar
  - Servant's quarters
  - Storage
  - Greenhouse
  - Master bedroom
  - Guest Bedroom 1
  - Guest Bedroom 2
  - Smoking Room
  - Dining Room
  - Library
  - Bathroom
  - Inner Courtyard
  - Main Gate + Guard house
  - Tower
- Town
  - Fisherman's house
  - Cooper's house
  - Dock, location of Pirate Ship
- Pirate Ship Dread Baron

